Can female government employees claim maternity leave benefits from other institutions like the Social Security System (SSS) and the Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth)?

Yes, female government employees can claim maternity leave benefits from the SSS and PhilHealth if they are members who meet the contribution requirements of these institutions.

The SSS grants maternity leave benefits for self-employed/voluntary members who have remitted at least three (3) monthly contributions in the twelve (12)-month period immediately preceding the semester of her childbirth, miscarriage, or emergency termination of pregnancy.

The PhilHealth grants benefits like Maternity Care Package (MCP) for members whose premium contributions are updated at least nine (9) months of contribution within the immediate twelve (12) months prior to the first day of avancement/confinement (including confinement month).

The other conditions for the grant of the PhilHealth benefits are as follows:

- The 45-day benefit limit of the number or the separate 45-day benefit limit among qualified dependents per year is not yet consumed; and
- Procedure/operation must be done in a PhilHealth-accredited hospital/facility and attended by PhilHealth-accredited doctor or must be admitted for at least 24 hours in a PhilHealth-accredited hospital/facility and attended by PhilHealth-accredited doctor.

What does full pay mean? What does it consist of?

Full pay consists of basic salary and allowances as may be provided under existing guidelines.

If the child dies shortly after delivery, is the female employee entitled to avail maternity leave?

Yes, the female employee is entitled to 105 days maternity leave with full pay, as her right to enjoy the benefit has already accrued from the live childbirth.

If the female employee dies or becomes permanently incapacitated after childbirth, is there a need to return the maternity leave benefits she received?

There is no need to return the maternity leave benefits received. Under the law, the balance of the maternity leave benefits of a female employee who died or became permanently incapacitated shall accrue to the child's father or, in his death, absence or incapacity, to an alternate caregiver.

Requirements	What are the requirements for one to enjoy maternity leave? The following documents shall be submitted to the agency to enjoy maternity leave: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Accomplished Application for Leave (Civil Service Form No. 6) - Medical Certificate issued by a government or private physician, as proof of pregnancy and estimated date of delivery - Accomplished Clearance Form (Civil Service Form No. 7) - Solo Parents I.D., for solo parents who want to avail the additional maternity leave of 15 days When is the application for maternity leave required to be filed? Application for maternity leave must be filed with the agency the soonest, preferably thirty (30) days before the expected delivery date of the female employee. In emergency cases, the application for maternity leave may be filed immediately after the emergency. How do I apply for extended maternity leave? Application for extended maternity leave must be filed with the agency at least forty-five (45) days before the end of the 105 days maternity leave. In case of a medical emergency, subsequent notice shall be submitted. When does a female employee qualify for maternity leave with full pay? A female employee can avail of maternity leave immediately upon her assumption to office, regardless of her length of government service. Can an unmarried female employee avail maternity leave? Yes. Maternity leave can be availed of regardless of the civil status of the female employee. Will a female employee who gave live childbirth receive the same maternity leave benefits regardless of the mode of her delivery? Yes. 105 days maternity leave with full pay shall be granted in case of live childbirth, regardless of the mode of delivery, whether normal or caesarian.
Availment	Does the counting of the maternity leave period include Saturdays, Sundays and holidays? Yes. The maternity leave period is counted in calendar days, inclusive of Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. This is in consonance with the rule that maternity leave should be availed of in a continuous and uninterrupted manner. Can maternity leave be availed prior to delivery date? Yes. A female employee can avail of maternity leave prior to her delivery date of not more than forty-five (45) days for pre-natal care purposes.

Can the application for maternity leave be given due course notwithstanding the pendency of an administrative case filed against the female employee?

Yes. A female employee is not barred under R.A. No. 11210 from enjoying maternity leave with full pay in case she has a pending administrative case.

Can a female employee go on maternity leave pending the completion of her clearance from money, property and work-related accountabilities?

Yes. The pendency of clearance from money, property and work-related accountabilities shall not deprive the female employee of the availment of maternity leave benefits.

Note: CS Form No. 7 (Clearance Form) shall be used for clearance.

Can the enjoyment of maternity leave be divided into two (2) phases or availed in a protracted basis?

No. Enjoyment of maternity leave cannot be deferred to some later time. It should be availed of in a continuous and uninterrupted manner.

I gave birth on (or after) March 11, 2019, but I was only granted sixty (60) days maternity leave. I have returned to work. Can I resume and complete the remaining forty-five (45) days of my one hundred (105) days maternity leave?

Yes. Female employees who gave birth on March 11, 2019 and onwards are covered by R.A. No. 11210.

As a rule, enjoyment of maternity leave cannot be deferred to some later date since R.A. No. 11210 explicitly declared that it shall be enjoyed in a continuous and uninterrupted manner.

However, considering that you were only granted 60 days maternity leave benefits based on Section 11 of the Omnibus Rules on Leave which is prior to the approval of the IRR of R.A. No. 11210, you are still entitled to enjoy the remaining forty-five (45) days maternity leave with full pay. This is in consonance with the social justice principle that maternity leave law being a social legislation, should be accorded liberal interpretation in favor of those whom the law intends to be benefited.

However, there is a need for you to notify the head of office/agency that you are resuming to enjoy your maternity leave benefit.

How should the additional 15 days maternity leave for solo parents be availed of?

The additional maternity leave of 15 days for solo parents should be availed of in a continuous and uninterrupted manner immediately after the expiration of the approved maternity leave.

	Apart from the Solo Parent I.D., what other proof of solo parenthood can the female employee present? Pursuant to Section 10, Article IV of the IRR of R.A. No. 8972 or the Solo Parents' Welfare Act of 2000, the Solo Parent Identification Card (ID) is an indispensable requirement to avail of all solo parent benefits. There being no alternative thereto, a valid Solo Parent ID shall be secured and presented in order to enjoy the additional fifteen (15) days maternity leave benefit for solo parents. Note: The Solo Parent ID is issued by the Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) through the City/Municipal Social Welfare and Development Offices. It is valid for one (1) year, but may be renewed subject to new assessment and evaluation. Is the option to avail of the extended maternity leave of up to thirty (30) days subject to the approval of the head of office? Yes. The head of office shall be given due notice in writing of the option to avail the extended maternity leave at least forty-five (45) days before the end of the maternity leave or through subsequent notice in case of a medical emergency. The requirement of prior notice will give the head office/agency necessary preparation for the extended leave of absence. Moreover, the approval of the said leave is ministerial on the part of the head of office/agency. The period of extended maternity leave without pay shall not be considered as gap in the service. (Sec. 3, Rule IV of R.A. No. 11210) Can the extended maternity leave of up to thirty (30) days be charged against the sick/vacation leave credits of the female employee? Yes. In case of live childbirth, the female worker has the option to extend her maternity leave for an additional thirty (30) days without pay, or use her earned sick leave credits for extended leave with pay. In case the sick leave credits are exhausted, the vacation leave credits may be used. Can the female employee return to work during the unexpired period of her maternity leave? Sec. 3 of R.A. No. 11210 provides that the enjoyment of maternity leave cannot be deferred but should be availed of either before or after the actual delivery in a continuous and uninterrupted manner. Thus, it can be inferred that it is a must for the female worker to fully enjoy the maternity leave, 105 or 60 calendar days as the case may be. Otherwise, actual services rendered within the maternity leave shall be without pay.
Employment Status	Can non-career service employees avail of the maternity leave benefits under R.A. No. 11210? Yes. Female employees in the government service can avail maternity leave under R.A. No. 11210 regardless of their employment/appointment status, whether permanent, temporary, casual, contractual, provisional, substitute, coterminous or fixed term.

Termination of Employment	Can a female employee who was terminated or who resigned from the service avail maternity leave? Yes. A female employee can avail of maternity leave if live childbirth, miscarriage, or emergency termination of pregnancy occurs not more than fifteen (15) calendar days after the termination of her service.
Leave for Local Elected and Appointed Officials	Can local elected and appointed officials, like barangay officials, avail maternity leave under R.A. No. 11210? Yes. The coverage of R.A. No. 11210 includes female workers in public sector like in the Local Government Units (LGUs). Their entitlement to maternity leave benefits is also granted under Republic Act No. 7160 or the Local Government Code of 1991 and its Implementing Rules and Regulations, and CSC-DBM Joint Circular No. 1, s. 2004 (Leave Benefits of Barangay Officials).
Contract of Service and Job Order (COS/JO) Workers in Government	Can contract of service and job order workers in government avail maternity leave under R.A. No. 11210? Yes. Female contract of service and job order workers in government are classified as female workers in the informal economy. They can claim maternity leave benefits from the SSS if they have remitted to the SSS at least three (3) monthly contributions in the twelve (12)-month period immediately preceding the semester of her childbirth, miscarriage, or emergency termination of pregnancy. (Sec. 1, Rule VII of the IRR of R.A. No. 11210) Non-SSS members can avail the health care service for pre-natal, delivery, postpartum and pregnancy-related conditions from the Philippine Health Insurance Corporation (PhilHealth). (Sec. 2[5], Rule III of the IRR of R.A. No. 11210).
Allocation of Maternity Leave	What is allocation of maternity leave? A female worker entitled to maternity leave benefits may, at her option, allocate up to seven (7) days of said benefits to the child's father, whether or not the same is married to the female worker. The allocated benefit granted to the child's father under R.A. No. 11210 is over and above that which is provided under Republic Act No. 8187, or the "Paternity Leave Act of 1996". In case of death, absence, or incapacity of the child's father, the female worker may allocate to an alternate caregiver who may be any of the following, upon the election of the mother taking into account the best interests of the child: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. A relative within the fourth degree of consanguinity; or b. The current partner, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity, of the female worker sharing the same household. The option to allocate maternity leave credits shall not be applicable in case the female worker suffers miscarriage or emergency termination of pregnancy. (Sec. 1, Rule VIII of the IRR of R.A. No. 11210)

What are the requirements in the allocation of maternity leave?

To allocate up to 7 days of the maternity leave, the female worker must submit prior notice in writing to the head of office/agency, with her Application for Leave using Civil Service (CS) Form No. 6 and proof of relationship.

How should allocated leave be used or enjoyed?

The allocated leave can be used or enjoyed in a continuous or intermittent manner within the duration of the maternity leave.

Who is a relative within the fourth degree of consanguinity?

A relative within the fourth degree of consanguinity is someone who is related to the female employee by blood and shares the same ancestry or lineage. Examples of relatives within the fourth degree of consanguinity, as follows:

- 1st degree: Parents, children
- 2nd degree: Siblings (brothers/sisters), grandparents, grandchild
- 3rd degree: Nephews, nieces, uncles, aunts
- 4th degree: First cousins

What are examples of proof of relationship?

- Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) or Local Civil Registrar (LCR)-issued Certificate of Live Birth
- Marriage Certificate
- Barangay Certificate
- Other bona fide documents that can prove filial relationship
